

PMA5 Overview

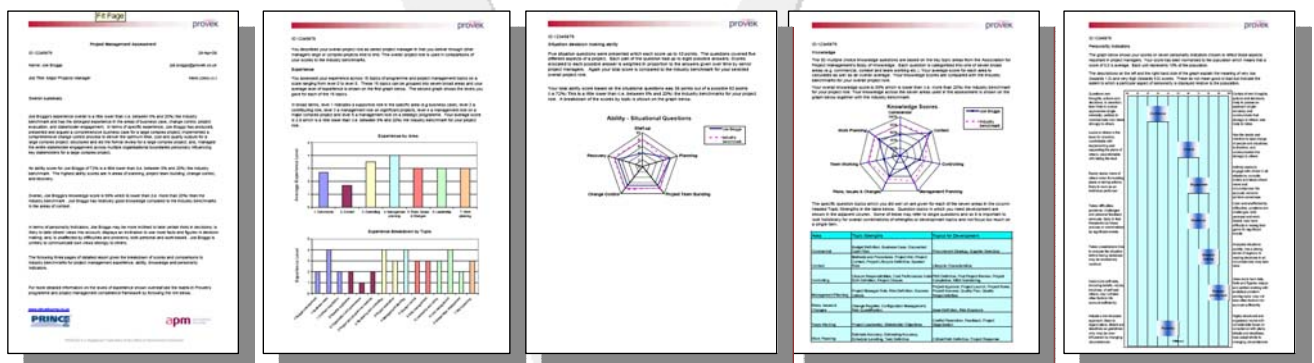

Provek's leading on-line project management assessment tool, PMA5, has been undertaken by more than 6,000 programme and project professionals from many major organisations in the past three years. PMA5 provides the most affordable, comprehensive and tailorable on-line assessment of experience, knowledge, decision ability and personality indicators available anywhere. Based around the leading bodies of knowledge (i.e. APM BoK and MSP) and incorporating Provek's competence framework, PMA5 supports capability benchmarking and planning, training needs analysis, recruitment and selection decisions. It has been approved the Association for Project Management (APM).

Benefits of using PMA5

- Capability planning – right stock of project management talent to match your projects' needs
- Training needs analysis – right people on the right learning and development options at the right time
- Recruitment – best candidates identified for interview with areas to be probed further identified
- Selection – high performers and those with potential identified for fast tracking

Standard Assessment Packages

Deploy the standard off-the-shelf version of PMA5 by purchasing 10, 20 or 50 licences. Each candidate receives a five-page individual report on their assessment results.

The standard package includes the personality module which determines the profile across seven key personality areas. Your organisation receives a management summary report which aggregates the individual results and compares them with industry norms (see overleaf).

Tailored Assessment Package

Whatever your assessment requirements are, we can probably meet them! Tailor the questions to meet the specific requirements of your organisation. Design the individual five page report to present the information relevant to your needs. Analyse the data in the ways you want and understand your project management capabilities more fully.
